Green Day in City

Cycle Jatha, Walkathon, Planting Saplings, Clean Cauvery Rally mark Environment Day

MCC Commissioner K.H. Jagadeesha joins children at a cycle rally to mark the World Environment Day in city this morning. Picture right shows MP Pratap Simha and Raghavan of Raghulal & Co. planting saplings with the students of Deepa Education and Service Trust at the institution premises in city.

Mysuru, June 5 (OSR)- Mysuru joined the country to celebrate the World Environment Day today. Jathas, planting of saplings, bicycle rallies, special lecture programmes, cleaning drives, awareness on plastic and several other programmes were held to mark the occasion.

World Environment Day is the United Nations' (UN) most important day for encouraging worldwide awareness and action for the protection of our environment. The celebrations have grown to become a global platform for public outreach in over 100 countries.

Ever since its conception in 1974, Environment Day has had a special theme relating to the pressing environmental concern at the time. The theme for 2018 is "Beat Plastic Pollution."

As part of the celebration, the District Administration, Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) and the District Legal Services Authority had organised a cycle jatha.

The highlight of the celebrations in the city was an awareness rally taken out from city to Srirangapatna for clean Cauvery River. At a time when there is an increased demand for clean drinking water and at a time when River Cauvery is being polluted by various industries by letting out effluents, the rally assumed significance.

As if to reflect the "Beat Plastic Pollution" in letter and spirit, Let's do it! Mysore has set up a display at Chikka Gadiyara to create awareness against plastic use and plastic pollution which is killing oceanic life. The display depicts a fish with an open stomach from where plastic is falling into a dustbin.

Clean Cauvery river rally

Cauvery Nadhi Swachhatha Andolana Samithi along with the Regional Office of KSPCB and other organisations had organised a rally to create awareness among people on protecting cleanliness of river Cauvery and that of environment.

The rally, with about 100 participants, took off from Palace North Gate in front of Kote Anjaneyaswamy temple. The rally will conclude near Cauvery River close to Sri Ranganathaswamy temple in Srirangapatna.

Speaking on the occasion, Vedic scholar Dr. Bhanuprakash Sharma opined that the World Environment Day should be celebrtaed on a meaningful note. He observed that civilisation was also contributing to pollution which demands a high degree of awareness among people on preserving the environment and cleanliness of water bodies.

Samithi Convenor M.N. Chandramohan, Sri Ganesha Swaroopanandagiri Swamiji of Ganjam Adi Shankar Mutt, Sri Sadashiva Swamiji of Kodlipet, District Brahmana Sangha President D.T. Prakash, Sri Shantiverathananda Swamiji of Ramakrishna Ashrama, Senior Environment officer D. Uday Kumar and others participated.

Aping the apes

Planet earth's age has been determined chemically to be 4.5 billion years. Human beings have inhabited the planet for about 2,00,000 years, according to anthropologists. All other life forms have a much longer tenancy of the only planet playing host to living creatures. The processes of change-progress-development credited to the ingenuity of human beings contrast with the way the rest of life forms have remained the same. Here begins the saga of conflict between the two reaching the present scenario of earth's ecological devastation, again (dis)credited to human species. Taking stock of the expanding human population both globally and country-wise over time in numerical terms has lately witnessed the act of counting some selected species of life forms, particularly the denizens of the forest, popularly perceived and identified as wildlife. One such species that was bestowed attention was the ape, described by biologists as a branch of tailless primates native to Africa and South East Asia.

A report in a section of the press published last week says that the country's lone gorilla, an ape named Polo, died four years ago in Mysuru Zoo and the search for its replacement is on. Globally, the headcount of gorilla is estimated at 1,000, a number that pales into nothing compared to the headcount of human beings across the planet. Clearly, human beings have grossly outnumbered all other creatures, except obviously the microbes. The question is: How to undo the imbalance in the ecology on planet earth?

The more one studies the interactions among the life forms, particularly between the human beings and the rest, in the backdrop of environment, the more one realises the dominant role of humans in causing the ecological imbalance through the process of development at the cost of the habitats of other species. Human beings may have been better off if only inventions such as the gun and the rest of the weaponry in common use never happened. We talk of deaths due to snakebite and jumbo attacks forgetting the unedifying act of causing extinction of growing numbers of birds and beasts. Apes score high because they mind their own business as it were. They don't kill, they don't chop trees, they don't produce and use plastic bags, they don't cheat and not to forget, they don't do politics based on religion or caste.

Some may dismiss prescribing the ape as a role model to human beings as preposterous, but considering the fact of all-too-clear consequences of development, human beings may last longer on earth by aping the ape.

Facial recognition to monitor students' attention

Hangzhou: Students of a Middle School in Hangzhou, China, will now think twice before dozing off or getting distracted in class as a new facial recognition system will be scanning their faces every 30 seconds to make sure they are paying attention.

Known as 'smart classroom behaviour management system,' the new monitoring solution recently installed at the school is made up of three high-tech cameras positioned above the blackboard that constantly feed information to an AI-powered software that analyses the students' facial expressions and general behaviour and assesses whether they are enjoying lessons or if their minds are wandering.

The school's vice principal told Chinese media that after a long-month trial, the students have started to get used to the surveillance system. "Is this a concentration camp? They are kids, not the target of dictatorship," a person commented on the social media.

Mary statue crying rose-scented tears

Hobbs: Christians from the State of New Mexico and beyond have been flocking to the city to witness what many are considering a real-life miracle – a statue of the Virgin Mary crying tears that allegedly smell like roses.

Churchgoers at Our Lady of Guadalupe Church, in Hobbs, first noticed the scented tears coming out of the statue's eyes during Mass. Father Jose 'Pepe' Segura said that a parishioner informed him about the bizarre phenomenon, and he himself had wipe the statue's face clean, only to see the tears flowing down the face again.

Cabinet expansion tomorrow

JD(S) may keep three berths vacant

G.T. Devegowda | H.D. Revanna | C.S. Puttaraju | Bandappa Kashampur | B.M. Farookh

Bengaluru, June 5- With just a day left for Cabinet formation, the JD(S) leadership, anticipating trouble within the party over Cabinet berths, is understood to have decided to keep three Ministerial berths vacant.

The JD(S), which can accommodate only 11 of its MLAs in the Cabinet, is feeling the heat as the list of aspirants lobbying for Ministerial berths has been growing by the day, with more than twenty MLAs said to be vying for berths. The party is said to have decided on giving district-wise representation in the Cabinet.

According to sources, H.D. Revanna (Hassan), C.S. Puttaraju (Mandya), G.T. Devegowda (Mysuru), Bandappa Kashampur (Bidar), K. Srinivas Gowda (Kolar), Venkatrao Nadagowda (Raichur), N. Mahesh (Chamarajanagar) and Srinivas (Tumakuru) are likely to be inducted into the Ministry on Wednesday.

As a result, senior leaders like A.H. Vishwanath, D.C. Thammanna, MLC Basavaraj Horatti and S.R. Mahesh may miss the bus.

Party General Secretary B.M. Farookh, who was on Monday elected to the Upper House and tipped for a Cabinet berth, too is unlikely to be inducted into the Ministry, following opposition within the party.

Meanwhile, differences have emerged among JD(S) leaders over sharing of portfolios.

The dispute, sources say, is between H.D. Revanna, elder brother of CM H.D. Kumaraswamy and Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda (GTD), who defeated Siddharamaiah. While Revanna seems to be keen on both Power and PWD portfolios, GTD is said to be demanding one of the two.

On its part, the Congress, which is the coalition partner, is likely to finalise the names of its Legislators to be inducted in the H.D. Kumaraswamy-headed Government.

After weeks of hectic lobbying by partymen, Congress President Rahul Gandhi, who is learnt to have returned to New Delhi from US tour late on Monday night, will approve the list of Ministers.

While leader like Dr. G. Parameshwara, Siddharamaiah and Dinesh Gundu Rao travelled to Delhi on Monday, the old guard of the Congress, who include leaders like Mallikarjun Kharge, K.H. Muniyappa and Rahman Khan, have been holding meetings in Delhi for two days now.

While Kharge is pushing for his son Priyank, K.H. Muniyappa is lobbying hard for his daughter Roopakala Sashidhar and Rahman Khan for himself, it is learnt.

Kharge, Muniyappa, KPCC President and Deputy CM Dr. G. Parameshwara, former CM Siddharamaiah, KPCC Working President Dinesh Gundu Rao, D.K. Shivakumar, Congress incharge of Karnataka K.C. Venugopal and Senior Congress leader Ghulam Nabi Azad will meet Rahul Gandhi this evening to get an approval for the list of Congress Legislators who will take oath as Ministers on Wednesday.

The Congress has 22 out of the 34 Cabinet berths, while the JD(S) has 12.

Siddharamaiah to tour Badami from June 7

Bengaluru, June 5- Former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah has decided to tour Badami Assembly constituency in Bagalkot district for four days from June 7 to express his gratitude to the voters for electing him as their MLA.

He will be meeting the Congress party workers and the electorate in the constituency during the tour. Siddharamaiah had contested the Assembly election from two seats — Badami in Bagalkot and Chmundeshwari in Mysuru. While he lost from Chamundeshwari, he narrowly won from Badami.

BJP veteran leaders to contest LS polls

Amit Shah

New Delhi, June 5- BJP National President Amit Shah has withdrawn the undeclared upper age limit for party candidates to contest the Lok Sabha (LS) polls.

Addressing the party's National Executive here yesterday, Shah declared that there will be no upper age limit for party candidates to contest next year's LS polls, it is learnt.

The party had earlier thought of keeping veteran leaders, who have crossed 75 years, out of the electoral battle and accordingly, veteran leaders such as L.K. Advani, Murli Manohar Joshi, Kariya Munda and Sumitra Mahajan had to keep away from electoral politics.

But with Shah withdrawing the undeclared rule, veteran leaders and old timers of the party can hope to contest next year's LS polls and also guide the party on key issues.

Eleven elected unopposed to Legislative Council

Bengaluru, June 5- Eleven new members were elected unopposed to the Karnataka Legislative Council on Monday in the biennial elections to the Upper House.

Out of the 11 members elected unanimously, five are from the BJP, four from the Congress and two from the JD(S).

The new BJP members elected are Dr. Tejaswini Gowda, K.P. Nanjundi, Raghunath Malkapure, N. Ravi Kumar and S. Rudregowda.

The Congress members are Aravinda Kumar Arali, C.M. Ibrahim, K. Govindraj and K. Harish Kumar, while B.M. Farookh and S.L. Dharmegowda were elected from the JD(S).

The 11 seats are slated to fall vacant on June 17 after completion of the term of B.J. Puttaswamy, M.R. Seetharam, Motamma, D.S. Veeraiah, Syed Mudeer Aga, V. Somanna, Raghunath Malkapura, Bhanuprakash, C.M. Ibrahim, K. Givindaraj and B.S. Suresh.

MCC should take delimitation exercise afresh

Sir,

This has reference to the news item titled 'MCC Wards undergo delimitation' (Star of Mysore dated June 1). Present day Mysuru is not the Mysuru of yesteryears. It has grown and is growing at a fast pace.

With the transfer of 62 Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) and MUDA-approved Layouts to the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) sometime ago, it's difficult to comprehend why the Corporation did not take steps and what was the hindrance to incorporate these 62 Layouts before taking delimiting exercise of the present 65 existing Wards? And the delimitation work has been undertaken mainly to see that each Ward has a population of 12000 to 14000.

Much is desired of the infrastructure in many Layouts which have been handed over by MUDA to MCC. Many approved former MUDA Layouts are in shambles (for example, P&T Employees Layout in Rajivnagar 2nd Stage). Residents are facing electricity, UGD, garbage problems and the roads are in a pathetic condition. Therefore, the Government should listen to the sane suggestion of MCC Corporator and former Mayor B. L. Bhyrappa and Corporator B. V. Manjunath to include the newly-acquired 62 MUDA / MUDA-approved Layouts and take the delimitation exercise afresh increasing the number of Wards in the due process.

Apparently, renumbering of Wards has also not been done in a proper manner going by the past practices.

MCC elections, due sometime after September should be held only after a proper review of delimitation.

Poll Results: Threats & Promises

Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

Never have by-election results made waves of the kind that last week's did. Only two out of fourteen seats were won by the BJP, the party that is generally projected as the unstoppable force sweeping across the country. Opponents were quick to proclaim its stoppability.

It would be a mistake to hurry to the conclusion that the BJP is losing ground and will be overtaken in next year's general election. The party has strengths that other parties do not have, and will not have in the immediate future. The most important of these are its booth-level organisational strength and its unmatched financial resources. To these should be added two significant factors: That the party is in power in Delhi, and that it is led by a fighter who is known to do whatever it takes to win.

Nevertheless, the picture that unveiled itself last week had its own implications. One is that the minor status of minor parties has been further underlined. Shiv Sena in Palghar, Maharashtra and JD(S) in RR Nagar, Bangalore became also-rans because they refused to cooperate with other groups. Sena is allegedly a partner of the BJP and yet became the main party fighting it in Palghar. It lost by more than 29,000 votes. Shiv Sena, an accidental party born of a 1960s sentiment in Bombay against non-locals, has no ideological validity today. Its best bet would have been to stick with the BJP and share bits and pieces of power or join an opposition grouping. Its chief says it will fight all future elections solo. Which means there won't be many future elections to fight.

The JD(S) in Karnataka, after joining hands with the Congress to form the Government, declined to face the RR Nagar election jointly. Patriarch Deve Gowda's self-centred ambitions were on display here. Cooperation only in the legislature, not outside, he said. That was a meaningless stance and his party ended up a poor third after winner Congress and runner-up BJP. What further devices will this narrow-visioned politician think up, endangering the ruling coalition between his party and the Congress? Palghar and RR Nagar demonstrated the foolishness of opposition parties ignoring the overwhelming advantages the BJP enjoys as the Prime Minister's party.

By far, the most important outcome last week was the defeat of the BJP in two Uttar Pradesh Constituencies. Noorpur went with the Samajwadi Party and Kairana with the RLD. Forgive those who ask: RLD? What's that? It is the inconsequential Rashtriya Lok Dal of the inconsequential Ajit Singh. But in Kairana, the RLD was backed by the Samajwadi Party, the Bahujan Samaj Party and the Congress. And its candidate romped home with a comfortable margin of 44,618 votes.

Let it be noted that Kairana is the third Parliament seat the BJP is losing in UP after the celebrated Yogi Adityanath became the State's Chief Minister following a celebrated victory. The Yogi could not get the support of people in his own Constituency of Gorakhpur; the seat vacated by him was won by an unknown party (Nishad Party founded by Sanjay Nishad) which had formed an alliance with the Samajwadi Party.

Yet, the real significance of the Kairana result is that the victorious candidate's name is Tabassum Hasan. The BJP opponent she defeated was not only another women, but the daughter of the sitting MP whose death had necessitated the by-election. Neither the sympathy wave nor the religion of the opposition candidate could help her; Tabassum Hasan won in a State where the ruling party had demonstratively declined to give a single ticket to a Muslim. She has now become the first UP Muslim to enter Parliament since the BJP came to power. If the BJP's losses in Gorakhpur and Phulpur two months ago were political setbacks, the Kairana loss is an ideological insult.

So where do we go from here? What is sure is that Yogi Adityanath is a loser. More or less sure, too, is that Amit Shah is not the magician he is reputed to be; his extremism is turning counter-productive. The dangerous connotation of this is that he might turn to more daring and unorthodox ways to get his numbers.

The most useful lesson to be learned is that opposition unity can work wonders. Sworn enemies like Mayawati and Mulayam family are joining hands. The Congress is accepting the reality that it must participate in coalitions as a junior party. All those who get together are deriving benefits. The moral lies in the familiar saying: Unity is strength.

Cauvery and 'Kaala' cinema have no connect: Prakash Rai

Bengaluru/Mysuru, June 5 (UNI)- Actor Prakash Rai (Prakash Raj), who is known for his controversial, sometimes non-committal and convenience-based statements on River Cauvery and his acting career in Tamil Nadu and Karnataka, is in the news again and this time he has slammed the ban issued by pro-Kannada groups on Superstar Rajinikanth's 'Kaala.'

Prakash Rai

"It is the duty of respective State governments to sort out inter-State disputes, be it water sharing or any other subject. The elected governments will sort out such issues in consultation with experts. The cinema fraternity which has no borders should not be victimised for any such reasons," he asserted.

Prakash called upon the activists and the Karnataka Film Chambers of Commerce and Industry to introspect on what could be achieved by stalling 'Kaala' in Karnataka theatres. "Agreed that Rajinikanth's statement on Cauvery has been not acceptable to us in Karnataka. But this decision to boycott his film across Karnataka can be against a popular opinion," he opined.

Instead, he said, it was prudent to let the film be exhibited in Karnataka and those who did not wish to watch it keep away from cinema halls.

"If only a section of cinema fraternity or some organisations decide that this film not be screened in Karnataka is not correct. This argument has nothing to do with the actor or those involved in producing this film. It is wrong that only a small section of people decide what Kannada cinema going public should watch or not," he said in a statement.

Prakash said such decision to boycott a film anywhere in a country would adversely affect thousands of those employed in the entertainment industry from top, like a producer to a cinema house worker. "Should we take away their earnings for some political issues," he asked.

VATAL CONDEMNS PRAKASH

Not taking Prakash Rai's statement lightly, Vatal Nagaraj, the President of Kannada Chaluvali Vatal Paksha, has hit out at him for supporting the release of 'Kaala'. Nagaraj has questioned the actor's "mental stability" over his comments and alleged that he was doing it for "free publicity."

Vatal Nagaraj

"Rai is not mentally stable. I have respect towards him but looking at his recent-month activities, it is clear that he is trying to garner free publicity," he told reporters.

"Rajinikanth is anti-Kannadiga. Prakash Rai should have maintained dignified silence when he could not comment on Rajini's stand. He should have shut his mouth instead of blabbering for publicity," Vatal Nagaraj claimed.

Money more important for Prakash Rai, says Pratap Simha

Mysuru, June 5- Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha too has condemned actor Prakash Rai's tweet in which he has defended actor Rajinikanth's Kaala.

Speaking to reporters yesterday, Simha said, "For Prakash Rai, money may be more important than Cauvery. But for us, Cauvery is more important than money. We have an emotional connect with our lifeline, Cauvery. We all like Rajinikanth but we cannot tolerate anyone who talks lightly about Cauvery. It is natural for pro-Kannada activists to oppose the screening of the movie. With this, Rai has proved that he is a villain not just in movies but in real life too," Simha said.

Mutual discussion best way forward to solve Cauvery row: Kamal

Bengaluru, June 5 (UNI) - Noted actor and Tamil Makkal Needhi Mayym President Kamal Haasan yesterday met Karnataka Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy seeking timely release of Cauvery water for the Kuruvai crop in Tamil Nadu.

Speaking at a joint press conference after meeting Kumaraswamy, Haasan said mutual agreement was the best way forward to solve the century-old Cauvery river water sharing issue and it was also his priority. Courts should be the last resort he said.

Kumaraswamy said Kamal had appealed him to release Cauvery waters urgently and said for him also the welfare of farmers of both the States was important in a federal setup. There was a need to take decisions in a cordial manner.

Stating that he is from a lawyers' family, Haasan said that their advice is to take farmers of both Tamil Nadu and Karnataka into confidence for protecting each other's interests. "There will be no room for conflict here if we do this. Court or Tribunal will do their job and I have come here to appeal in the interest of protecting the standing crop and to safeguard the interests of farmers," he said.

Replying to a question about demand for not releasing Rajinikanth starrer 'Kaala' in Karnataka due to his statements on Cauvery issue, Kamal Haasan said that is a different issue and the Film Chamber will deal with it and this meeting has nothing to do with it.

Seed Ball Fest

by Science Ashram

Mysuru, June 5- As part of World Environment Day celebration, Science Ashram conducted a Seed Ball Fest in collaboration with the Forest Department, Mysore. The event was intended to create awareness about the importance of protecting our environment and increasing the green cover of Mysuru.

The celebrations began a week prior where all the students gathered at the Tinkering Lab and prepared seed balls. The seeds were selected in consultation with the Forest Department to make the seed balls. Students wrapped the seeds in a mixture of clay and compost, and then dried them for a week. Seed balls are an easy and sustainable method of afforestation. They also are cost effective and have a convenient dispersal mechanism.

The programme began at Science Ashram Tinkering Lab with an interaction on the World Environment Day theme for 2018 – Beat Plastic Pollution. Facts about plastic pollution were shared and methods to fight this pollution were discussed. Students were encouraged to come up with innovative ideas on plastic management to beat this pollution.

Science Ashram team with its student army headed to the foot of Chamundi Hill for the Seed Bombing. Enthusiastic parents also joined the kids in this cause. The seed balls were thrown in the selected location. Many other seeds were also sown. The programme was guided by the officials of the Forest Department.

Cycle rally for a clean environment

The District Administration, KSPCB, District Legal Services Authority and other organisations had organised a cycle rally to create awareness among people on utility of bicycle for clean environment.

The rally was flagged off in front of DC's office by MCC Commissioner K.H. Jagadish who also rode a bicycle along with participants. About 100 people including several children participated in the rally. The placards fixed to the cycles carried meaningful messages like 'Save Environment', 'Shun usage of plastic' and 'Greenery is life'.

The rally passed through Babu Jagajeevanram Circle (Railway Station Circle), K.R. Circle and culminated at Institutions of Engineers on JLB Road where a stage programme was held. KSPCB Environment officers Prakash, Udayakumar, Yatish, NSS officer Dinesh and others participated in the rally.

Planting of trees

The District Administration, Janajagruti Grameena Abhivruddhi Samsthe, Infopest Mysuru and NSS had organised a tree planting drive and a painting competition at the Institution of Engineers on JLB Road.

Speaking after inaugurating the event, Principal District and Sessions Court Judge S.L. Krishnappa Vontigodi highlighted the environmental hazards of plastic and advised the people to shun use of plastic to the maximum extent possible.

He also stressed the need for using cloth bags, as it is more environment-friendly. A total of 22 children were distributed prizes for various competitions.

Celebrations at ODP

Expressing concern over depleting forest cover, KSRP Assistant Commandant Prasanna Kumar stressed on the need for immediate measures to expand forest cover in a bid to save our Ecology and Environment.

He was speaking after inaugurating World Environment Day programme organised at ODP (Organisation for the Development of People) at Bannimantap.

Pointing out that the National Forest Policy envisions a 33 per cent forest cover to save the land from eco-disaster, Prasanna Kumar said that 14 States in the country were lagging behind in having 33 per cent forest cover. Karnataka has only 20.19 percent forest cover and the status in Mysuru District even bad with only 16 percent, which is a lot of concern," he said.

Highlighting the calamities that might occur if we do not rush to save our environment, he emphasised on the need for curbing use of plastics, as is one of the main elements which cause pollution, besides leading to eco-disaster. He lauded the ODP for its contribution towards creating awareness and for practical efforts to conserve our fragile ecology and environment.

ISRO Scientist V. Jagannath, who delivered a talk on the theme "Control of plastic pollution", said that it was important for everyone to realise the environmental hazards of using plastic.

Rev. Fr. C. Rayappa administered the oath on saving environment. Bishop of Mysuru Most Reverend Dr. K.A. William presided.

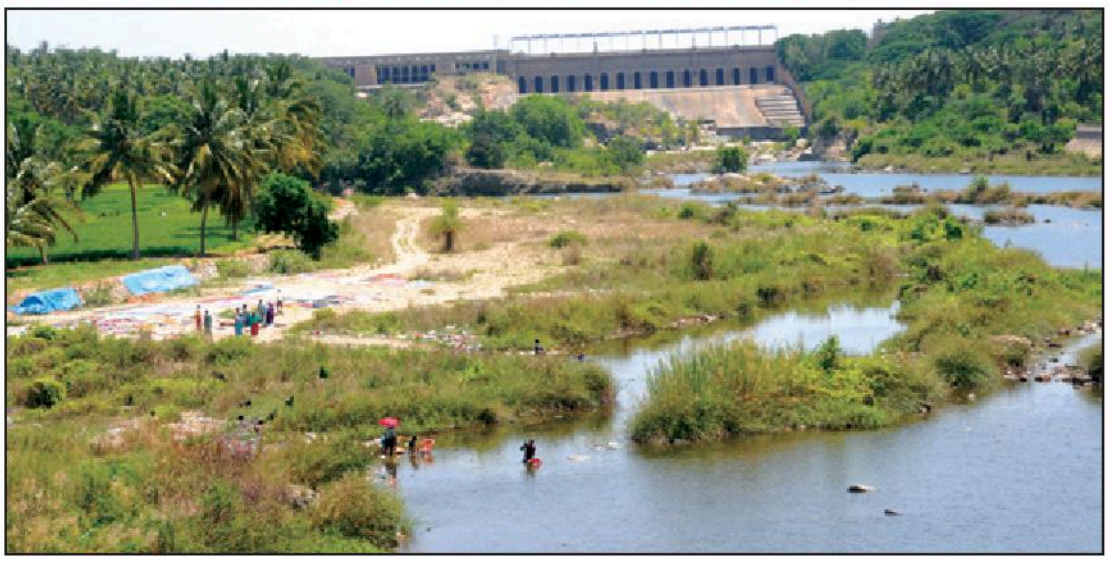
KRS likely to be full this year: IMD

Moderate to heavy rainfall in Kodagu



Mysuru, June 5 (NNN& KMS)- There is good news for Mysureans as Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam in Mandya District, which has not filled to the capacity since many years, is likely to be filled to the brim by touching the magic figure of 124.80 feet.

The hope is the prediction of 97 per cent rainfall by the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) this monsoon.

There will be moderate to heavy rainfall in Kodagu and it is likely to rain between 20 - 60 mm in the District. Mysuru and Mandya will have moderate rainfall (15-30mm) while Chamarajanagar will have 25-30 mm in the next five days, said N. Nagendrababu, Research Associate, Organic Farm Research Station, Naganahalli, speaking to Star of Mysore, here this morning.

In the next five days there will be about 33 mm of rains overall in Mysuru District. The weather forecast for the next one week for the district is generally cloudy sky with one or two spells of rains or thundershowers today.

On June 6 and 7 there will be light rain or drizzle with cloudy sky and on June 8 and 9 partly cloudy sky with one or two spells of rain or thundershowers.

Again on June 10 and 11, it is generally cloudy sky with one or two spells of rains or thundershowers.

The IMD has ruled out cyclone in the State for present, said Narendrababu.

Monsoon intensifies: When compared to last year, Kodagu has experienced good rains with 119 mm rainfall so far. Even though it did not rain much from January to March, the rains later has brought joy to the people.

This year from January till now there is 433.95 mm rain, while at the same time last year it had rained 314.54 mm.

Though it had rained in May and June last year it had not rained later and hence the groundwater level had not gone up.

There is also an increase in the water level in KRS as it has risen from the dead storage level. The maximum level is 124.80 feet and it had gone down to 69.14 feet and because of the good rains, it has reached 76.45 feet and the inflow is 1,521 cusecs while the outflow is 304 cusecs.

This seven feet increase has brought joy to everyone including the farming community. If the rains continue, then KRS is likely to fill completely.

Tourist entry to Chunchanakatte Falls banned; alert at Balamuri

Somashekar helped his wife Prathima and two children move to a safer place but before he could come up he was washed away. Though a few localites tried to rescue him with a saree, they could not pull him up because of the force of the water.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, K.R. Nagar Tahsildar Mahesh Chandra said that he has instructed his officials to erect fencing on the rocks to prevent tourist entry. "I have held meeting with officials of Graphite India that generates power at Chunchanakatte and a survey is on to fence the entire area. We have told the company that a more powerful siren must be installed and it must sound an alert before the water is released to the river," he said.

Apart from sounding the siren before releasing water, the company officials must install loudspeakers at the spot and announce the water release so that new tourists who come to the place knows that there is danger in the area, the Tahsildar said.

Following the incident, Irrigation officers too have taken a decision of banning entry of tourists. Executive Engineer of Irrigation Department, Saligrama Sub-division P.S. Sathyamurthy, who inspected the spot, told SOM that the place will be out of bounds for tourists. "This is not a tourist spot. Signboards have been erected near the Falls to warn tourists that venturing into the waterfalls is dangerous as rocks are slippery," he said and added that though such boards have been installed, tourists often ignore the warnings.

He said that he will hold a meeting with other department officials and take an appropriate decision. "This is a place where River Cauvery flows freely and tourists come here to enjoy the scenery. The only solution to prevent tourists from venturing into the water is to fence the entire area," he said.

Officials said that Graphite India is 300mts away from the Falls and it usually sounds the siren to signal release of water. They have followed all the prescribed rules while releasing excess water. Somashekar and other visitors did not heed the siren and the tragedy occurred due to negligence, officials said.

BALAMURI TOO RESTRICTED: The tragic incident has forced the authorities of KRS to intensify vigil at Balamuri Falls where hundreds of tourists visit and venture into the water. It may be mentioned here that last year, due to an increase in the number of deaths, the Police had banned entry to Balamuri near Srirangapatna.

Gates were installed at the entrance of Balamuri preventing tourist entry into the dangerous part of the waterfall. Balamuri is a scenic and artificial waterfall created because of the construction of a concrete barrier across Cauvery. When water is released from KRS, it forms a beautiful sight.

When water is released, it comes at a great force at Balamuri and tourists who are on the barrier are dragged downstream that is full of sharp rocks and boulders. There is a restriction on tourist entry to dangerous parts of the Falls. "Apart from the gates, we have posted Policemen to prevent people from entering the water. People can only enter the river side of the Falls downstream but not the Falls per se," KRS Police told SOM.

City students' unique project to prevent human-animal conflict

Farmer-friendly X-Doppler radar saves crops, lives; Useful to Forest Department

By N. Niranjan Nikam

She was all of ten years when she saw her grandfather coming in contact with the electric fence and dying of shock. The dark memory stayed with her for years but she could not imagine that one day she would be doing engineering and motivating her team to take up a project to save lives of farmers from electric shock.

"I come from Amble in T. Narasipur taluk. We have farm land and it is fenced by electric fence to protect the crops from wild animals. I saw my grandfather dying because he was not aware that the power had been switched on by the lineman during the change of shifts. He just touched the wire and died. I shared this experience with my classmates and with the help of our guide we came up with this project titled 'Wild animal detection and alerting using X-Band Doppler radar for crop protection,'" said M. Manasa, a student of Telecommunication Engineering from GSSS Institute of Engineering and Technology for Women (GSSSIETW), Mysuru, even as her teammates R. Chaitra, K. Sanjana and L. Thejaswini, all students of 8th semester, nod their heads in unison, sharing their experiences with Star of Mysore.

"Radars are related to telecommunication and that is why I suggested the girls to take up this project. There are 250 Engineering Colleges under Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU) and it has four regions — Mysuru, Belagavi, Kalaburagi and Bengaluru. Our college is the only one in Mysuru region offering this course which means only girls can take up Telecommunication Engineering that is accredited by National Board of Accreditation," said Dr. B.D. Parameshachari, Professor and Head, Department of Telecommunication Engineering.

According to a recent research, about 48 per cent of crops are lost due to wild animal attacks on farm fields. Due to this, farmers face lot of problems. In order to overcome this, some old methods like torch lights and lantern, display of dead body parts, mounting of plastic paper on wooded sticks, lighting of fires and tape recorders were used to scare away the wild animals, said Chaitra.

Another method that is widely used in the farm land is the electric fence. "The cost of fencing one acre of land is Rs.20,000. In summer the shocks will be more and in winter it will be less. Not only is this more expensive but most of the farmers cannot afford it. Besides fire hazards are more with electric fence," said Thejaswini.

"The electric shocks not only result in loss of animal life but also are dangerous to humans. In villages, the power cut timings are introduced like in cities and farmers have a misconception that there will be no power according to the shift power cut, just as Manasa's grandfather thought and lost his life years ago," said Sanjana.

If solar fences are used, then during winter times, the charging takes time due to less sunlight. Hence, there is no proper electricity passing through the fence and there will be no electric shock, which renders the solar fences useless, said the students.

X-Band Doppler radar

Due to deforestation and environmental changes, wild animals are facing scarcity of water and other food items which are driving them to the villages and even cities in search of food. Thus the human-animal conflict began because when the animals migrate they destroy the farms and kill human beings. Hence, electric fencing was one of the ways used to prevent the animals from entering farm lands which has lot of disadvantages.

"Earlier sensors were being used and there are many types of them available. However, instead of sensor we realised that using X-Doppler is far better. This is a unique and simple technology because the components used in X-Band Doppler are to find out the movement and speed of animals. Unlike the electric fence, this is a farmer-friendly instrument. It will cost between Rs.2,500 and Rs.3,000 and every farmer can use it," said the students.

The advantage is that X-Doppler can be sensed by animals and the farmer gets an SMS call alert on his mobile phone. Asked how it works, the students demonstrated with the instrument which is very compact and showed how it catches the movement of the animals and even the human beings.

"In the X-Doppler sensor the frequency and speed of the animal is also displayed. Just one instrument is enough to cover an area of ten acres because it has a 270 degree, that is a ten metre cover. If a very wide area is to be covered then just an extra Doppler is all that is required," said Chaitra even as the SMS alert came on her mobile phone.

Very useful to Forest Department

Incidents like the recent shocking news of Senior IFS Officer S. Manikandan being trampled to death by a wild tusker could be avoided if the Forest Department installs this X-Doppler device near a trench and other places. The Doppler provides info regarding the presence of wild animals to the Field or Forest Officers who are on forest patrolling, said the students.

"The forest field staff will be alerted by the buzzer sound when an animal is suddenly attacking. However, every officer needs to be connected to the X-Doppler as they will be alerted by two signals — one the buzzer and the other alert. The maximum distance that the Doppler radar can sense the animal is 10.5 GHS," said Chaitra.

Even sandalwood smuggling can be prevented using this instrument. The smuggler gang will not know the presence of X-Doppler and the moment they try to enter, the X-Doppler will sense their movements and send an alert signal to the owners or the Forest Department guards. The smugglers unlike the animals cannot sense X-Doppler said the students.

It is useful for visually challenged also as the X-Doppler can be fixed to the stick used by them. If any vehicle passes by, it will alert the person, they said.

"Mysuru-based Schematic Company was involved with us. We have spent about Rs.15,000 to Rs.20,000 for the project. Radar, GSM and buzzer are all that is required for it to be implemented. If any company shows interest in the project to manufacture the component then we are willing to share the idea as it is beneficial, especially to the farmers and the forest staff," they said.

"The students completed the project in four months and they received Best Project Award. This project was been sponsored by Karnataka State Council for Science and Technology (KSCST), Bengaluru," said Dr. Parameshachari.

Leopard mauls pet dog as owner watches helplessly

Mysuru, June 5 (SPN&BCT)- A leopard killed a pet dog on the city outskirts last night.

The incident occurred at Gayathri Layout.

According to the residents of the area, the feline entered the compound of the house owned by one Puttaswamy late in the night and attacked the pet dog. Hearing the howling sound of the dog, Puttaswamy and his family members opened the doors late last night only to see the leopard biting their pet.

Family members said that the leopard had already bitten the dog's stomach and they could not do much to save the dog. Seeing human beings, the leopard, however, left the place in the dark. Puttaswamy said that they had waited for some time after the leopard left the place and by the time the dog was dead.

Residents said that the leopard could have come from the Chamundi Hill and it had attacked several stray dogs. This is for the first time it jumped a compound wall to attack Puttaswamy's pet dog, they said.

They alleged that they had complained to the Forest Department many times but the Department had not taken any action.

Heavy rain continues to lash city; brings down huge tree

Mysuru, June 5- Heavy rain continued to lash the city yesterday which brought down a huge tree and disrupted traffic.

The rain which began in the afternoon continued for nearly two hours. A huge tree on MG Road near Double Water Tank came down and as a result traffic was affected.

MCC's Abhaya Team reached the spot and cleared the tree enabling the traffic to move freely. There was water logging in several places which caused problems to the public and motorists.

Sewage water enters home, forces residents to vacate: Sewage water from the underground drainage entered a home, forcing the family to vacate the house and take shelter elsewhere. The incident occurred at B.M. Sri Nagar, 2nd Main Road, 7th Cross, in the house of Chandrashekar.

Unable to bear the foul smell, he along with his family moved to his relatives house in Belavata village. Whenever it rains heavily, the rainwater enters his home through the toilet. Since 15 days the family was living in this hell.

He has appealed to every official in the MCC including the local Corporator. However, they have been giving one excuse or the other and keep postponing the work. One day they got the jetting machine and pretended to do the work but the problem was not resolved.

As the sewage water entered the home, Chandrashekar was forced to lock his house and move out with his family. However, the neighbours are now bearing the brunt of the problem as the whole area stinks. They are cursing the Corporation officials.

The residents have threatened that if the problem is not solved they would collect the sewage water in bottles and stage protest in front of the Corporation Commissioner.

Obituary

Mysuru, June 5- Kempamma (78), wife of late P. Puttaswamy Gowda (Apsara) and a resident of Gayathripuram in city, passed away on May 29.

WORD OF THE DAY

Ingenue

Pronunciation: AN-juh-noo

Meaning: A naive girl or young woman, the stage role of an ingenue; also an actress playing such a role.
Origin: Although Becky Sharp, the ambitious heroine of William Makepeace Thackeray's 1848 novel Vanity Fair, is not usually thought of as innocent or naive, the author used ingenue to describe her as having those qualities. Thackeray's use was attributive: "When attacked sometimes, Becky had a knack of adopting a demure ingenue air, under which she was most dangerous." The word ingenue typically refers to someone who is innocent to the ways of the world, so you probably won't be too surprised to learn that it shares an ancestor—Latin ingenuus—with ingenuous, a word meaning "showing innocent or childlike simplicity and candidness." More directly, our ingenue comes from French ingénue, the feminine form of ingénu, meaning "ingenuous."

THE ODD WORD

Chiliad

A thousand things or a thousand years.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A fate worse than death

Meaning: Any misfortune that would make life unlivable, especially rape or loss of virginity. The phrase was formerly a euphemism for rape.

Origin: This phrase originally attested to the belief that a dishonoured woman was better off dead. It is still used, but ironically of late. The earlier view was expressed in Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, 1781: "The matrons and virgins of Rome were exposed to injuries more dreadful, in the apprehension of chastity, than death itself."

The current version of the phrase was used in several works from 1810 onward but was probably brought into public use via Edgar Rice Burroughs' widely read Tarzan of the Apes, 1914: "[The ape] threw her roughly across his broad, hairy shoulders, and leaped back into the trees, bearing Jane Porter away toward a fate a thousand times worse than death."

The expression isn't used seriously with its original meaning these days. It's more often used in parody form by local journalists who use 'A fête worse than death' in reviews of church fêtes.
